

Supporting Communication at Home – Parents Workshop

Children's Speech and Language Therapy in Luton and Bedfordshire offer workshops to support children's speech, language and communication skills within their daily life.

Why do I need to attend?

- Speech, language and communication skills develop in everyday situation throughout the day at home and school.
- This workshop aims to develop the parents/carers' knowledge of the important role of adults, the environment and the words we use have in supporting and developing children's communication.
- The training has been offered as part of package of care.
- It is essential for a parent/carer to attend this core training to gain ideas and strategies to support children's communication within the home environment.
